One of the problems First Baptist Church of Greensburg had with their existing structure was the lack of a clear entry point into the building, which made it seem more like a fortress than a welcoming church extending into the community. There also wasn't enough connecting spaces and flexible spaces for adults. The nursery was also located in the basement, which wasn't an ideal location.

Aspen partnered with First Baptist on an entry addition that now leaves out any confusion about where to enter the building, and provides a ramp for those who need assistance. A new, sizeable bank of windows provides a view into the church, and bathes the entryway in light.

We also renovated their existing space to create more connecting and gathering space for this growing church family. The renovation includes a new lobby, common area with corner library, sanctuary, and fellowship hall. The nursery was relocated to have better proximity to adult spaces, and the administrative offices were relocated for better control of traffic. Minor cosmetic updates were made in the gym, including acoustical panels to help with sound for potential future worship overflow.
